

Amicus point of sale has assisted Fuel & Go to revamp its business into a modern, competitive service station!!

"We especially like how Amicus POS makes promotional pricing so easy, no more extra barcodes to scan!"

Fuel & Go is a small independent service station located in Fairfield, NSW. The business was reopened in April 2009 after being closed for 10 months while the whole site was given a complete face-lift. The previous run-down

Fuel & Go at Fairfield!

- ◇ Five bowzers with 10 pumps for fast filling
- ◇ Convenience items - softdrinks, confectionary, newspapers, magazines, cigarettes, chips, milk
- ◇ Automotive products such as oil etc.

fuel outlet used a legacy console to manage pumps and a separate point of sale system for processing transactions. Now with Amicus POS, sales and pump management occur from one easy to use point of sale terminal. This makes managing the 10 pumps easy, with complete control over pump authorisation and holding.

"The system is really easy to use, requiring minimal training for our operators."

An ongoing relationship has been established with Neotechnology Business Systems as the NSW Sales Manager keeps regular contact with the business. This will be beneficial for both parties later on down the track when the owners of Fuel & Go bring other sites across to Amicus POS. The transition will be seamless and many of the benefits of using an integrated point of sale system ready to go, such as management of sites from one head office including price and product alignment, stock transfers and multi-site site reporting.

“We are really pleased that there are still companies out there willing to provide great service and support for the smaller business person. With the company that provided the previous console, support was pretty much non-existent, with the company obviously focused only on its bigger customers. Neotechnology took the time to see what our needs were and supported us the whole way.”

Why Choose Amicus Fuel?

Bowser and pump control is combined with point of sale into a single, reliable and easy to use terminal

Automated pricing functions like multi-buy promotional pricing (2 for $4.99) without the need to scan additional barcodes

Access reports on sales and other important information at any time

Simple, easy to use point of sale interface
- easy to learn for full-time and casual employees without hours of training

Manage your inventory just like a supermarket, see what is selling well and what is not

Excellent stock take functionality allowing you to do regular stocktakes

“It was a really easy decision to go with Amicus POS!”

Amicus POS helps the business with both fuel and retail needs. Wet stock management is made easy with fuel deliveries and tank dips entered easily into the system; this along with fuel sale tracking allows expected fuel levels to be determined easily and SIRA reporting requirements met easily as well.
